Working Together for Health in Limonade

To our Konbit supporters:

As news out of Haiti attests, the situation there continues to spiral deeper into chaos, especially in the southern part of the country.

Despite these bleak reports, our Haitian team of doctors, nurses, and healthcare workers (Ajan Sante), based in Limonad, have successfully and safely continued their life-saving work to communities in the north, providing needed supplies and education for basic healthcare. Another much needed rural mobile clinic is being planned for early 2025.

Rest assured that we continue to be responsible stewards for your donation: establishing secure channels to transfer funds, maintaining active communication and feedback with our Haitian partners, and monitoring use of funding.

Rest assured, also, that every donated dollar is used directly for the services. There is an old precept that states, "Save one life and you save the entire world." In a time of desperate need, donations to Konbit offers us all the opportunity to do good and to continue to provide care, and hope, to our fellow mothers, fathers, grandparents and children in Haiti.

Projected Expenses 2025

	Annual Cost
Stipends for three Ajan Sante ($2987 each with 3% raise)	$8,961
Three rural clinic events ($3800 each)	$11,400
Health Resource kits	$3,500
Total	$23,861

Please, please consider donating and thank you for your generosity.
